Product Description:

Genomic DNA was extracted from pooled male and female Oncomelania hupensis (O. hupensis) subsp. nosophora, Japanese strain, Waranya isolate. O. hupensis subsp. nosophora, Japanese strain, Waranya isolate, is a small freshwater snail that is thought to have been initially collected in 1968 in Kofu, Japan. The Waranya isolate and Hosaka isolate (BEI Resources NR-36064) are from essentially the same location and do not differ in parasite susceptibility.<sup>1</sup> O. hupensis subsp. nosophora, Japanese strain, Waranya isolate, is an intermediate host of Schistosoma japonicum (S. japonicum). S. japonicum is a species of trematode worm which causes the chronic parasitic disease Schistosomiasis.

Material Provided:

Each vial of NR-36063 contains 10 to 100 µg of genomic DNA in TE buffer (10 mM Tris-HCl and 0.1 mM EDTA, pH ~ 8.0). The concentration is shown on the Certificate of Analysis. The vial should be centrifuged prior to opening.

Packaging/Storage:

NR-36063 was packaged in cryovials. The product is provided frozen and should be stored at -20°C or colder upon arrival. Freeze-thaw cycles should be minimized.
